WEEKLY USA GRAIN AND PROTEIN REPORT February 21, 2026

The big news at the end of the week was the US Supreme Court ruling against all the import tariffs put in place by the Trump government. One has to wonder if the US will actually have to refund all the “illegal” tariffs that have been paid. It is expected that by early next week there will be some action to replace these tariffs with something just as onerous.

It was a shorter trading week this week with a Monday holiday. USA corn prices finished the week almost unchanged, perhaps down by USD 1 m/t. US soybeans ended the week up by only USD 2 m/t while soymeal was unchanged for the week. US winter wheat had a very strong week, up by about USD 11 m/t with US spring wheat up by USD 6 m/t.

US wheat prices are up strongly on weather concerns and winter wheat was the largest trading commodity on futures exchanges this week. The drought situation in the Wheat Belt did not come to an end as had been expected for the past week – the rainfall did not arrive.

US corn exports were very good this week as the US continues to be the only origin with good supplies of corn for exports. Argentina prices are quoted lower but the corn is not yet available for export.

Soybean prices did try to move lower this week but with no success --- export numbers were quite good which helped keep soybeans firm. These days US soybeans are about the only ones available to export markets --- Argentina and Brazil prices are lower but US supply is available.

SECTION 2 --- FISHMEAL COMMENTS AND PRICES: PERUVIAN "INDICATION" FISHMEAL PRICES:

South Region landings were at 8,700 m/t last week, which brings the total to 136,000 m/t with 115,000 m/t remaining on the quota. The majority of last week's catch was in the Ilo area of Peru. Total fishmeal production is estimated at 30,600 m/t with about 3,000 m/t of fish oil.

All is quiet this week due to Chinese New Year --- the year of the Flame Horse!!!! Prices are steady according to trade reports and little new business was reported. Total fishmeal sales for this fishing season are now up to 400,000 m/t with futures sales at 60,000 m/t, according to reports.

The biggest growth in Peru fishmeal sales in 2025, excluding China, were for Germany, Denmark and Ecuador. Germany purchases jumped from 2,900 m/t to 55,500 m/t with Denmark going from 2,500 m/t to 40,700 m/t and Ecuador from 19,900 m/t to 56,400 m/t.

The IMARPE cruise began this week, looking at the state of the anchovy resource.

A mild El Nino is said to be starting which everyone is watching closely in case it becomes something more serious than mild.

Peru has lost another President to scandal with a new President to be appointed in July – there is an interim president in place until then.
